

Both Houses Vote to Freeze Turnback Fund

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Both the Arkansas House and the Senate acted today to prevent loss of county turnback funds because of declining population.

The Senate passed 21-11 a bill to assure that no county would lose highway turnback solely because of a drop in population. The House beat down 51-47 a move to exchange the record of a 70-27 vote Thursday approving a similar turnback freeze on general revenue funds.

Both measures had sparked spirited parliamentary maneuvering in the two houses Thursday.

The House bill passed before opponents rose against it. They then tried to get another chance to defeat the bill by having the previous vote expunged from the record, but they were unsuccessful.

The bill, picking up 4th grad house lead 134 with senate lead 130 from 4th grad on as add.

Minor Accidents Investigated

Two accidents were investigated yesterday by local officers, both resulting in minimum damage. On West Avenue B autos driven by Esther Beard and Mrs. Denver Honea collided with damage resulting to both. Officers Rowe and Clark reported.

At 7th and S. Fulton cars driven by Scott Key and Cindy Foster collided with very light damage. Officers Rowe and Brown said.

Winter Aims a New Blast at State Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter aimed a new blast at Arkansas today. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted snow or rain for Saturday and a continuation of a four-day-old cold wave.

Most of the glaze from Thursday's ice and sleet storm had disappeared and State Police said all roads were open, with only those in the northern part of the state very hazardous. Highways in the Hope and Warren areas were normal, those in most other sections of the state clear except for patches of ice.

The Weather Bureau in Little Rock forecast rain or snow for the entire state Saturday, with continued sub-freezing temperatures.

Fayetteville was the coldest spot in the state overnight, with a low reading of eight. It was 9 at Flippin, 10 at Newport, 11 at Walnut Ridge and Gilbert and the minimums ranged up to 22 at El Dorado. Highs today were to be near 30, with lows tonight in the upper teens.

Traces of snow were reported Thursday at Camden, El Dorado, Fayetteville, Gilbert, Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Walnut Ridge, and other places. Fayetteville and Flippin had some snow on the ground.

No weather-caused fatalities had been reported in Arkansas, but five children died in a fire Thursday night in Texarkana, Tex.

Accused Slayer Is Captured

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Howard Lowery, 23, an accused slayer, was captured early today without resistance several hours after the youth who freed him from jail at gunpoint was recaptured.

Two highway patrol lieutenants—R. E. Frusher and Sid Berry—caught Lowery in southwest Oklahoma City.

Captured earlier in the same area was Mike Marks, 18, El Reno, as he fled on foot from the pair's stolen getaway car.

Lowery is charged with murder in the hitchhike slaying last summer near Yukon, Okla., of Dan W. Sims, 28, of Worthington, Pa.

The patrol said Lowery still had a gun and also money taken from a filling station holdup earlier.

Marks was jailed in Oklahoma City while Lowery was returned to the Yukon jail.

Bulletin

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Capt. Henrique Galvae has expressed readiness to accept a U.S. Navy escort for the hijacked ship Santa Maria, the Navy announced today.

The escort would be aimed at protecting the Santa Maria against any action by Portuguese warships which have been put on the trail of the Portuguese liner.

Rear Adm. Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean Sea Frontier, said the action to be taken by the U.S. Navy will be decided by higher authority in Washington.

Mothers Plan Dimes March January 31

The golden key identifying county Mothers' March Volunteers on the night of Jan. 31 will help unlock the mystery surrounding crippling diseases.

This prediction was made today by Mrs. Johanne Green as she was appointed 1961 New March of Dimes Mothers' March chairman by Mrs. Laura Mae Impson, county campaign director.

Funds gathered by the Mothers' March volunteers will help support a far reaching research program, Mrs. Green said. "This same research program already has produced the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines and two Nobel prizes. We have every reason to hope that it will cast a new light on the causes of crippling birth defects and arthritis."

City capitulates for the Mothers' March on Jan. 31 from 7 to 9 p. m. are as follows:

Mrs. Steve Bader, North Hamilton to Hervey north of MOP railroad; Mrs. Lawrence Easterling, North Hamilton west and to the railroad.

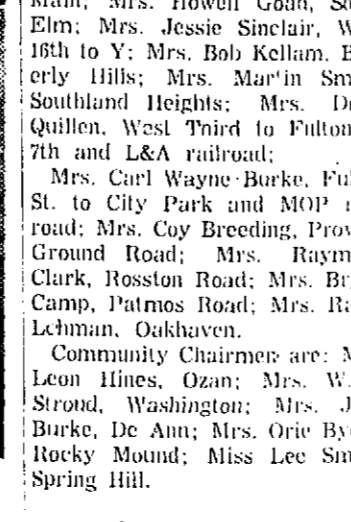

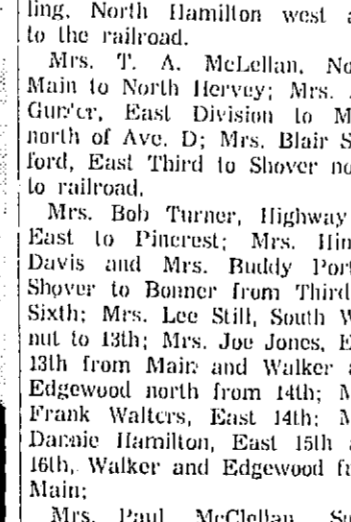

Mrs. T. A. McLellan, North Main to North Hervey; Mrs. Bill Gunter, East Division to Main north of Ave. D; Mrs. Blair Stanford, East Third to Shover north to railroad.

Mrs. Bob Turner, Highway 67 East to Pinerest; Mrs. Hinton Davis and Mrs. Buddy Porter, Shover to Bonner from Third to Sixth; Mrs. Lee Still, South Walnut to 13th; Mrs. Joe Jones, East 13th from Main and Walker and Edgewood north from 14th; Mrs. Frank Walters, East 14th; Mrs. Darcia Hamilton, East 15th and 16th, Walker and Edgewood from Main.

Mrs. Paul McClellan, South Main; Mrs. Howell Goad, South Elm; Mrs. Jessie Sinclair, West 16th to Y; Mrs. Bob Kellam, Beverly Hills; Mrs. Marlin Smith, Southland Heights; Mrs. Doris Quillen, West Third to Fulton to 7th and L&A railroad.

Ask UN Study of Congo Developments

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Seven nations asked, in a letter circulated today, that the U. N. Security Council meet to examine "alarming recent developments in the Congo."

The nations are Ceylon, Ghana, Guinea, Mali, Morocco, the United Arab Republic and Yugoslavia. All support deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Their letter protested "brutal treatment" of the imprisoned former premier, called his imprisonment illegal, and said no fruitful negotiations are possible in the Congo while he and others remain in jail.

Earlier, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld warned that the big powers might be drawn into "open and active involvement" in the Congo if smaller nations persist in pulling their troops out of the U. N. Congo force.

Would Slow Car Buying at Texarkana

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House today received a bill which would make motor vehicles purchased in Texarkana subject to Arkansas' three per cent sales tax.

Nevada County Rep. C. O. Wahlquist said he introduced the bill because many motorists from other southwest Arkansas counties are going to Miller County to buy cars because they can get a substantial tax saving. The bill amends an act giving sales tax exemptions to cities on a state line where the other state does not have a sales tax.

Wahlquist said Texarkana was the only city affected by the law.

Living Cost Hits Another High Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs edged to another record high in December. It was the 10th increase in 11 months.

The Labor Department reported today its consumers price index rose one-tenth of one per cent between November and December. This put the index at 127.5. The 1947-49 average level is the base of 100 used in the index.

Higher food prices and shelter costs contributed most to the increase between November and December.

The December index was 1.6 per cent above the level a year earlier.

Robert J. Myers, chief of price statistics for the Labor Department, said there is no real price stability in sight, but that the price level for January probably is little changed from December.

This latest living cost increase means a pay raise for over 150,000 workers of one or two cents an hour. They are under labor contracts calling for pay changes in relation to changes in the index.

Among workers due to get an increase are employees of the Douglas and Northrup Aircraft companies, Greyhound Bus Lines and some Western trucking companies.

Higher meat prices accounted for a major part of an advance of two-tenths of 1 per cent in cost averages for all foods. In December, food prices were at their highest for 1960, and close to the high point reached since World War II in July 1958.

Dairy products reached a new high, and costs of bread, fruits and vegetables, and medical care all showed increases.

Nearly all elements of home ownership costs increased in December. This rise was led by higher residential property taxes. Rents also edged up.

Clothing prices declined somewhat.

C. of C. Gets Facts About Millwood

The first detailed report on Millwood Dam as construction begins on its Little River site was brought to the annual banquet meeting of Hope Chamber of Commerce Thursday night by W. T. Moore, assistant in the Engineering Division of the Tulsa office of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Mr. Moore said:

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Chamber of Commerce, and Guests:

I should like to express Mr. DeGier's regrets that because he has been called to a meeting in Washington, he was unable to meet with you today.

It is a privilege to be present and to have a part in this annual meeting of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, as it is groups such as yours that can provide an interest in the local level in the development of our water resources.

Since I know that the part of our work you are most interested in is the Millwood Reservoir, nearly all of my remarks today will be concerning that project. However, due to the system operation with six upstream reservoirs, I shall — a little later — speak of the other Little River projects.

Little River Basin

First, I would like to point out some of the general features and conditions in the area which form the basis for the projects in the Little River Basin. The Little River and its tributaries rise in the mountainous area in southeast Oklahoma and southwest Arkansas, and flow south to the main Little River bottoms. The Little River then parallels itself in southern Oklahoma and southwest Arkansas. About three-fourths of the total drainage area is mountainous country, covered with a heavy growth of timber. The remaining area is timbered over-flow area and rolling hill country. Elevation in the headwaters is in excess of 2,000 feet above main sea level, and decreases to about 250 feet at the confluence with Red River.

Over the mountainous portion of the basin, the normal annual precipitation ranges from 47 inches in the western portion to 55 inches in the eastern area. Over the southern portion of the basin, the rainfall is more uniform, with the normal amount being about 45 inches.

The fast run-off in the headwaters and a flat slope of about 1 foot per mile in the lower reaches present a problem in passing floodwaters into the Red River.

Authorized in 1946

The Millwood Reservoir was first authorized by the Flood Control Act of 1946. At that time, it was a single-purpose flood control reservoir, in a reservoir levee plan for the control of floodwaters on the Red River below Denison Dam.

It was the Flood Control Act of 1950 which authorized and directed

His Praise for Selection of Kennedy

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., today cheered President Kennedy's selection of Dr. Janet Travell as the official White House physician and added this plea:

"I certainly hope Jack's kind to me and lets her treat me once in awhile."

Goldwater, one of the foremost conservatives of the Republican party, said the New York doctor also had been treating him for about three years.

"Sen. Kennedy told me about her and telephoned her so I could get my first appointment," the Arizona told a reporter. "She's really wonderful."

Goldwater said he had been "troubled with what I think is a pinched nerve in my back."
Dr. Travell, 59, who is married to a New York stock broker, in 1955 treated Kennedy's serious back trouble, which stemmed from a wartime combat injury.

Thursday she said Kennedy's health is "excellent. He is under no restrictions whatever. He can eat anything he likes."

She prescribed for him a daily swim in the White House pool and perhaps a little golf.

It was Dr. Travell who discovered that one of Kennedy's legs is slightly shorter than the other, which put a further strain on his back. He now wears a quarter-inch lift in one shoe.

She said he expects she'll see the President daily, "if only to say good morning," as White House physician.

She hinted that her patient may not be as convinced as she is of the need for constant stays on medical attention, "but he may be overruled."

Who will do the overruling? "I will," she said.

Two Involved in $224,224 Shortage

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP)—A gray-haired spinster and a young mother of two children have been arrested on federal charges stemming from a $224,224.70 shortage at a bank where they both worked.

Held for arraignment today on embezzlement charges were Miss Lucy Fortney, 62, and Jo Ann Stevens, 25, both employees of the Bank of Shinnston (W. Va.) near here. They will appear before U.S. Commissioner L. T. Eddy.

The shortages in the bank's accounts were revealed Thursday, but there was no explanation as to how they were discovered or how long a period of time was involved. However, deposits were insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Wayne C. Hawker, president of the bank, said depositors would face no losses.

Authorities said Miss Fortney was employed by the bank for 28 years, many of them as assistant cashier. Both she and Mrs. Stevens, wife of a coal company employee, have lived all their lives at Shinnston, a town of about 2,600 residents.

Mrs. Stevens was employed for eight years as a bookkeeper.

and Mrs. W. J. Vandergraff and families in Houston.

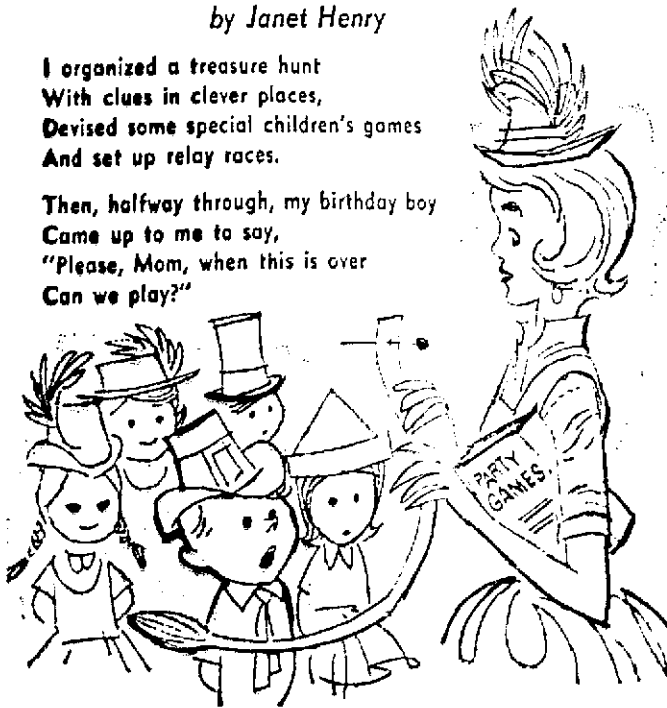

Jim McKenzie is spending the mid semester holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McKenzie.

Automobile Accident Could Be Golden Opportunity

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

My boy friend was in an automobile wreck recently and as a result both his legs were paralyzed. He is to undergo an operation. If successful, he will walk; if not, he will be an invalid for life. He was in the Navy for three years service. Now that's impossible. After his term of duty he planned to study landscape architecture and surveying.

He is the most wonderful boy I ever met—good, true and fine. But he is also very proud, hates to be pitied and as a result gets moody.

I write him long letters each day and try to make him feel wanted and loved. He thinks I do it out of pity. How can I make him realize I never did love him because he could swim like a fish or dance like a dream? I loved him from the beginning for that wonderful, big loving heart of his. Perhaps if he had something to do now he might get over this helplessness feeling. Have you any ideas? And could you tell me how to write interesting letters? —Mixed Up

Dear Mixed Up: Man's extremity is God's opportunity. Instead of the end, this accident could mark the beginning of a broader and fuller life for you both—far better than anything you ever dreamed of.

My first husband, John Erskine, was in an automobile accident that curtailed physical activities for the balance of his natural life. His first words to me when able to speak were, "Now I'll have the time to write!" That was in 1935. In the years between his death in 1951, he wrote 17 books, numerous moving picture plays, magazine articles and short stories, and served in an advisory and editorial capacity on countless educational projects which became the greater for the ideas he contributed.

Show your fiance this letter and tell him to get busy now on his landscape architectural studies. You can help by sending him books on the subject. And don't worry about the quality of your letters. Write him as you write me and you'll hold his interest.

Dear Helen:

I always thought I was mature enough to handle my own problems, but I now find myself up a dead-end street.

When I was 16 I met a boy at a high-school dance. He was then 20 and starred in high-school plays. I have gone with many boys and even had a few mild crushes, but I still have this particular boy constantly in my thoughts.

I hear that he is living in another town—I don't even know if he's married or not. Should I try to forget him or make an effort to see him again? —Wes

I have my own car and he expects me to go as he goes, alone. Instead, I stay home and cry. He says I'm only feeling sorry for myself. What can I do? —B.

Bogus $10 Bills Are Discovered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bogus $10 bills discovered at Piggott and Rector were passed by members of a recently broken up counterfeiting ring which operated in Arkansas and Missouri, a U.S. Secret Service agent said Wednesday.

One of the counterfeit bills had turned up at Rector and another at Piggott, Secret Service agent Leroy M. Lettner said.

A federal grand jury at St. Louis indicted 11 men Friday in connection with the counterfeiting operation.

Lettner quoted one of those indicted, Ivan C. Bess of Maplewood, Mo., as saying he passed three of the bogus bills at Rector and one at Piggott.

Bess was arrested Monday at St. Louis.

Free Ferry Bill Is Submitted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill to require the state Highway Department to operate a free ferry on the Arkansas River connecting Highway 1 between Desha and Lincoln counties was introduced in the Arkansas House today.

Arkansas County Rep. Grover C. Carnes, the sponsor, said the ferry was badly needed because soybeans and rice grown in southern Arkansas are processed in Stuttgart and now have to be transported by a roundabout route through Pine Bluff.

There now is a privately-operated ferry at the location, known as the Pendleton Crossing.

The Secretary of the Army to cause study and survey to be made of alternate sites for Millwood Reservoir. This report was assigned to the Tulsa District; and in 1955, the completed report was forwarded to our higher authority as the first step back to the Corps.

Based on recommendations contained in the report (as revised by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors), Congress authorized the modification of Millwood Reservoir by reducing the flood control storage about 25 percent and by adding 6 reservoirs upstream from the Millwood Reservoir, with all reservoirs being authorized for flood control and water supply, including 150,000 acre-feet in Millwood for possible future water supply uses.

When the full water supply pool is required, a lake of about 26,700 acres will be formed. Approximately 5,100 acres will be inundated with the initial water supply or normal pool.

Increasing the water supply storage to 150,000 acre-feet will, of course, reduce the flood control in like amount. This can be done only when additional flood control storage is made available in one or more of the upstream reservoirs.

This stipulation for maintaining the flood control effectiveness of Millwood is contained in the authorizing document which states simply that flood protection on Red River must be held to that which would have been provided with the original authorized project. A second provision is that Millwood be started prior to the start of construction on any of the 6 upstream reservoirs, and that water supply capacity in Millwood be used for flood control until flood capacity equivalent in effectiveness is available in any of the 6 upstream reservoirs.

For these reasons, we have given the Millwood Reservoir a high priority in our work schedule during the past year.

With funds made available to the project this fiscal year, contract plans have been completed on the project buildings and access road to the right abutment. This work will be advertised this spring and construction initiated early this summer. Acquisition of land in the dam site area has been initiated and preconstruction planning will be continued on other features of the project.

The next feature of the project to be started will be the dam. This will be done by construction of what we call the first stage diversion. This provides for constructing the spillway and all of the embankment to the right of the natural stream channel. First stage flows would pass through the natural river channel and the entire overbank area to the left of the river. The embankment to the right of the spillway area would be built up initially to the probably 10 year flood elevation. A cofferdam (that would later be partially incorporated in the embankment) would extend around the spillway construction area. The cofferdam would be built to provide 2 feet of freeboard upstream and 1 foot of freeboard downstream against the once-in-10-years flood.

The second stage diversion would provide for construction of the remaining embankment and closure of the existing stream channel. During closure of the earth embankment, stream flow would be diverted through the outlet works or over the 18-40 foot bays of the spillway section.

The relocation of roads, railroads and other utilities will be scheduled and coordinated with construction of the dam, so as to have them all completed by the time water is impounded in the reservoir or the project is capable of storing floodwaters.

The plan of improvement provides for an earthfill dam about 17,500 feet long, including the spillway and connecting nonoverflow section. The dam will be about 88 feet in height above the streambed and the reservoir behind the dam will provide a storage of about 1,858,000 acre-feet.

As I stated earlier, water supply is an authorized purpose of Millwood Reservoir; however, the development and administration of that project function must be accomplished under the provisions of the Water Supply Act of 1958.

Under that Act, the Corps of Engineers may include storage for municipal and industrial water supply in any reservoir project, if, before start of construction, State or local interests agree to pay for the allocated cost of the water supply storage. This storage may be for present needs, for anticipated future demand, or a combination of the two. However, the cost of future storage may not exceed 30 per cent of the total estimated cost of the project.

During the planning stage for any project, the interests which may be a city, corporation, or other legally constituted body, desiring water supply in a reservoir must furnish reasonable assurances to the Corps that they will pay the costs allocated to the required storage. The assurances

Battle Lines Drawn Over Turnback

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rural and urban factions in the Arkansas Legislature drew battle lines Thursday over bills to freeze state turnback fund quotas.

The country boys appeared to have the most support.

The House launched an involved controversy over county turnback money from the state general fund. The Senate fust is over a somewhat similar bill centered on highway turnback.

Turnback funds are revenues collected by the state and returned to the counties for their own use.

Turnback quotas are based on population, and since the 1960 census showed a population trend toward urban areas in Arkansas, rural counties stand to get less funds in the future unless new legislation is passed.

Rural area Sens. Robert Harvey of Swifton and Thomas A. Penn of Black Rock introduced a bill in the Senate to insure that no county would get less of the state's road tax turnback than it got before the 1960 census.

In the House, Izard Rep. John E. Miller introduced a bill to freeze the general revenue turnback at the level of the 1950 census.

The general turnback amounts to $2,670,000 a year. The state returns to the counties 7.7 per cent of the gross highway revenues plus one-fourth cent a gallon of the state gasoline taxes. In 1959 this was $4,280,565.

The House passed its bill 70-27 and was debating on a motion to expunge the record to permit reconsideration when it voted to adjourn and leave the matter pending so members could go on a tour of state facilities at Conway.

The Senate didn't vote on its bill, but balloting on preliminary motions indicated. It probably would have passed if a vote had been taken. Senators also quit early for the Conway trip.

Fighting the bills were legislators from areas which would stand to gain from retaining the old turnback quotas. In most cases, these are urban areas.

In another action Thursday, both Houses adopted a resolution for a study by a special committee of the possibility of financing a proposed big construction program from current revenues rather than from a tax on soft drinks as proposed earlier.

The committee would be composed only partly of legislators. One member each would be appointed by the governor's administrative staff, the State Association of College Presidents, the president of the University of Arkansas, the chairman of the State Hospital Board and the chairman of the Childrens Colony Board.

Both houses adopted a resolution directing the committee to report on the possibility that $4 million a year from current revenue could be used for a construction fund.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus indicated Thursday he does not favor a bill passed in the Senate Wednesday that would give a sales tax exemption to equipment and machinery used by industrial plants.

Faubus said at a news conference that sponsors of the bill "freely admitted it would cost us about one million dollars a year in revenue." But he wouldn't say flatly he is against the bill, but he said he didn't want to throw state revenues out of kilter with any sizeable tax reducing bill.

State fiscal officials said the one million dollar estimate is conservative.

Faubus' bill allowing cities and counties to build and operate nursing homes passed the House 95-0 Thursday and went to the Senate. Two or three members said they feared the federal government would prohibit racial segregation in the homes since federal money probably would be used in the operation.

Bills passed by the Senate included a House measure designed to keep girls under 18 out of taverns or public dance halls unless accompanied by their parents.

Bills introduced in the House included one to raise the maximum monthly welfare payment to permanently and totally disabled persons from $60 to $65, and one to require a police officer to give warning instead of prosecution to a motorist arrested for a moving traffic violation if the motorist has not been arrested in the last year.

One bill would give financial help in constructing buildings to school districts that have exhausted all available sources of revenues.

Miss Arkansas—Claudette Smith of Star City—visited the House and spoke briefly Thursday. She is the daughter of Rep. G. D. Smith of Lincoln County.

Would Eliminate Auto Graveyards

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Sen. Rudolph Bates of Mount Ida said Thursday he plans to introduce a bill to stiffen the regulation of "auto graveyards" along state highways.

Bates said his bill would replace a 1955 law dealing with roadside junkyards. That law prohibits such businesses within half a mile of a paved highway and makes county sheriffs responsible for enforcement.

Motel Telephone Measure Fails

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill to require that motels and hotels charge no more for local telephone service than the pay booth rate in the area failed in the Senate today.

Sen. Roy Riales of Mena, the author, said he introduced the bill because his Little Rock hotel charged him 16 cents for calls made from his room in contrast to the 10 cents rate per booth in the lobby.

Royalty Gets Gold Garland

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indians finally rinded Britain's Queen Elizabeth II with a garland today — a gold-brocaded one.

Distinguished visitors to India are usually buried in garlands of flowers, but Buckingham Palace sent advance word that the queen wanted none—fearing they might spoil her clothes.

When she appeared to open the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences today, an official met her and her husband, Prince Philip, with gold-brocaded garlands that took nine craftsmen two months to make.

Another Congo Clash Threatened

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Danger of a clash in North Katanga grew today with a build up of forces supporting and opposing ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

U.N. headquarters reported intense activity in the area around Manono where about 2,000 troops of the pro-Lumumba Stanleyville regime are massed.

The U.N. said the Belgian-officered Katanga gendarmerie in Kongolo—about 500 men, including 25 Belgian officers—is being reinforced.

Porkers Turn Back Court Press for Win

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks will go back to Southwest Conference basketball play next Tuesday with the knowledge that they can handle a full-court press.

They turned the Tulsa Hurricane's press into a shambles Thursday night and whipped the visitors from Oklahoma 66-53 in a non-conference game.

This was significant because the Hurricane had beaten Arkansas earlier this season, 64-59, chiefly through full-court harassment in the game's late stages.

Thursday night Arkansas took a 36-23 halftime lead and Tulsa applied the press in the second half. The Hogs were ready. Veteran guards Clyde Rhoden and Jerry Carlton dribbled and passed around the frazzling defense and worked a well rehearsed pivot play with 6-6 Ronnie Garner.

It was Arkansas' ninth victory against four losses. The Hogs are 2-2 in conference play and see their first post-examinations league action next Tuesday night in Waco, Tex., against Baylor.

Carlton, the team's leading scorer, dropped in 15 points Thursday night for honors in that department. Garner got 12 and Rhoden and Pat Foster each added 10.

John Jones paced Tulsa with 13 points and Gene Estes scored 12 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

The Hogs hit 47.5 per cent of their field goals and outscored Tulsa 51-45. Carlton put Arkansas ahead to stay with 8-44 left in the first half. He hit a field goal that made it 13-11.

Tulsa is 6-8 for the season.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

By HENRY FARRELL

THE STORY: Blanche Hudson, crippled in a car accident when she was at the peak of her career as a movie star, has suddenly become popular again after her old films appear on television. Blanche has discovered that her sister Jane has been withholding fan mail.

Chapter V

"I'm sorry," the voice on the telephone said. "Mr. Hanley is talking to a client right now. May I take a message?"

"Well, no—except that I called—Blanche Hudson."

"Oh, Miss Hudson—if it's anything urgent, I know Mr. Hanley will want me to call him."

"Oh, no. No, it's nothing urgent at all. But I would like to talk to him when he's free."

"All right, I'll tell him. And I'll have him call you."

Blanche said goodby and then, just as she was going to hang up, hesitated listening. Though the secretary had already hung up, there was still a sound of contact on the line, a faint, whispered breathing. It continued for a moment or two and then, with a faint click, disappeared.

There was no sense in being annoyed with Jane for eavesdropping; even confronted with it she would only deny it and then do it again. But it was annoying, knowing that all her telephone conversations would be monitored from downstairs. Also she wondered—and with a faint feeling of apprehension—what Jane's reaction to selling the house might actually be.

From experience Blanche knew that anything originating with her at the moment was sure to meet of her own for the room. Here it was that she came at intervals to seek the lost moments of her childhood and to escape the harsh disillusionment of the gathering years.

Most often, as she sat there, the mirror was transformed slowly into the ocean, and the floor upon which she sat, cross-legged, as a child would sit playing a child's game, was the beach. Suddenly, then it was summer. It was vacation time. There was the sound of the rolling surf. And her father was nearby.

"Don't go out too far, Janie. A big wave might come up and carry you off!"

That was her favorite day-dream, the one about the beach and the ocean. Sometimes she could sit there on the floor for a solid hour, just listening to the breaking of the waves and the sound of her father's voice. She had brought out all the old scrapbooks, full of her pictures and clippings, and the music and recitations that she had performed on the stage.

"But when I'm very bad . . . Suddenly remembering the line that had escaped her she placed her hands flatly on her hips, spread her feet wide apart to achieve a stance of aggressive tomboy belligerence. Her voice lowered to a strained and unconvincing bass.

"An' I answer back and sass."

She wagged her head back and forth.

Holding out one blunt, pointing finger, she shook it in a demonstration of a child's impression of stern parental remonstrance.

"Pa says I've got my brass."

The sound of a buzzer gritted into the room from the direction of the hallway outside, and she broke off. She frowned, and in the mirror her reflected self frowned back.

College Play to Get Into Full Swing

BY DON WEISS

Mid-term examinations completed at most schools, major college basketball resumes full-scale competition this weekend with seventh-ranked St. John's and ninth-ranked Southern California leading the pack back to a normally hectic schedule.

The St. John's Redmen (10-2), are scheduled at St. Louis tonight. Southern California, which rode its 12-2 record into the Associated Press' top ten this week, entertains Air Force tonight before meeting Denver Saturday night as the major powers return with a whopping program.

Saturday, play breaks out from coast to coast after the relatively quiet last two weeks.

Top-ranked Ohio State (13-0), the only major unbeaten team, tests its 10-game winning streak and its Big Ten leadership against 10th-ranked Purdue in what promises to be a tidy duel between the Buckeyes' Jerry Lucas and the Boilermakers' Terry Dischinger.

Third-ranked Bradley meets Marquette in the national TV game and fifth-ranked Duke plays Clemson in search of its sixth straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory in other big Saturday matches.

Miami of Florida rolled to its 11th victory in 16 tries, 86-74 over Centenary; Arkansas (9-4) whipped Tulsa 66-58; Eastern Kentucky won an Ohio Valley Conference test from Middle Tennessee 67-57 and Morehead (Ky) nipped Marshall 70-68 in Thursday night's limited schedule.

Johnson Is Male Athlete of the Year

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Rafel Lewis Johnson, Olympic decathlon champion, world record holder and the man who represented perfection to his teammates, is the athlete of the year for 1960.

Johnson, who beat out his protégé, C. K. Yang of Nationalist China in the grueling 10-event test at the Rome Olympics, was proclaimed the world's greatest all-around athlete after that victory.

And his teammate Lee Calhoun added: "To most of the guys on the team he represents perfection."

Johnson was named today as the Male Athlete of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll by the vote of 256 sports writers and editors throughout the United States. He went out over Arnold Palmer, whose 1960 performance ranked him as the world's outstanding golfer, by a slim margin of 19 points in the balloting.

Johnson will receive the Fraternal Order of Eagles-Fredrick C. Miller trophy at a civic luncheon in Milwaukee Feb. 27. He is the first American athlete to receive the trophy in three years. It was won last year by Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, then world heavyweight champion. The year before it was Herb Elliott, the Australian miler.

Johnson was named first on 93 of the 256 ballots. Palmer, winner of the U.S. Open golf championship and the Masters and second in the British Open, received 73 first place votes. On a point basis, with three awarded for a first place vote, two for second and one for third it was Johnson 398 and Palmer 379.

Floyd Patterson, the first boxer ever to lose the heavyweight championship and regain it, placed third in the voting with 29 firsts and 166 points. Norm Van Brocklin, who quarterbacked the Philadelphia Eagles to the National Football League championship, was fourth with 10 firsts and 141 points.

Johnson, a powerful 6-foot-3 Negro from Kingsburg, Calif., went into the Olympics as an outstanding favorite. Two months before he had bettered the listed world record of the Soviet Union's Vasily Kuznetsov by more than 200 points. He had been chosen as the flag bearer for the American team in the opening ceremony—an indication of the high regard in which his teammates held him.

Others in the top ten in the balloting were: Joe Bellini, football 68 points, fifth; Dick Groat, baseball 63 points, sixth; Jerry Lucas, basketball 42 points, seventh; Ted Williams, baseball 26 points, eighth; Vernon Law, baseball 23 points, ninth; Bill Mazeroski, baseball 23 points, tenth.

Palmer and Others Hot at Frisco

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golf Open champion Arnold Palmer and a flock of other par smashing pros were hot on the trail of a pair of unlikely first round leaders today in the San Francisco International golf tournament.

Stocky Charlie Sifford, the only Negro playing on the professional tour, and 240-pound George Bayer, one of the longest hitters in the game, shot six-under-par 65s Thursday over the rain-soaked Harding Park course to grab the opening lead by a single stroke.

Right behind them with 66s were Palmer, the nation's biggest money winner in 1960, Billy Casper, Ted Kroll, Doug Ford, 49ers football quarterback John Brodie and Stan Leonard, the Canadian veteran.

Chasing them at 67 was steady Bobby Rosburg, winner of the Crosby classic at Pebble Beach last week and now playing some of the best golf of his career.

Some of the sharpest young golfers in the business were right up in contention with 68s, notably Dave Ragan and Tommy Aaron. Also at 68 were Don Janarth, Fred Hawkins, Ernie Vossler and old timer Mike Souchak.

Sifford, 37, 175-pound Los Angeles pro, has won such events recently as the Almaden and Long Beach Opens, but has never taken top money in any of the really big events.

Bayer, 35, former University of Washington football tackle, hasn't been in the winner's circle since last March when he won the St. Petersburg Open.
